

TOMATO OUTPUT NOT SO LARGE

Beets and Alfalfa Prove More Profitable.

FROST DOES LITTLE DAMAGE

CANNED GOODS BRING $1,000,000 INTO UTAH.

"The Utah canning factories will turn out 200,000 cases of tomatoes this year," said William Craig of Ogden yesterday. Mr. Craig is the president of the Utah Selling & Storage company, and it is his business to keep posted on just such matters as the output of the canning factories.

"The tomato output," he continued, "will not be as heavy as last year, when 400,000 cases were put on the market. The falling off is due to the fact that sugar beets and alfalfa have become more profitable and certain. The acreage of tomatoes is smaller every place in the state except at Kaysville, and there the crop is not up to the standard. The frost did a little damage at Five Points, north of Ogden, where I am interested, but I don't think it hurt the tomatoes any other place in the state. The pumpkins, squashes and some other tender plants were pretty badly nipped, but the injury on the whole will not be serious. There was ice at Five Points Saturday night. I think that it is the coldest place in the state."

Speaking further of the canning industry, Mr. Craig said:

"When I began in the business in 1885 there were just three canning factories in the state. The output that year was 20,000 cases, and the market was swamped. Now we produce 200,000 cases and find a ready market for all the surplus. We ship to the Missouri market, and we have orders this year from Portland."

The crop this year will bring $1.50 per case, and tomatoes are canned in Utah. The output of the state is estimated at 200,000 cases. There are eighteen factories in the state that now put up tomatoes. Of course, some of them put up other fruit and other vegetables than tomatoes.

"The canneries also furnish a good market for labor. When I started in 1885, the wages were $1.00 a day. Now the men get $2.50 and the women $1.50. One woman in our factory at Five Points would be glad to stay in the state. This is rather unusual, for oranges command $2.25, but of course, she is an exceptional woman. The tomato canning factories have started up for this season's run."

CANTALOUPE ARE PLENTIFUL

Market Is Full and Prices Are Low.

SWEET POTATOES ARE RIPE

STORES WILL BE CLOSED TOMORROW.

Utah cantaloupes and melons are arriving freely and daily. The California variety is entirely out of market. Rocky Ford, which has been supplied to the restaurants and hotels of late, will stop coming into town this week, as this year's product is about over.

There is a carload of excellent bananas on hand this week. For some time past the bananas received in Salt Lake have been over-ripe and not of a good quality. Those last received are large and not too ripe. The cantaloupes are still in the market, and good flavor are still in the market. This is rather unusual, for oranges command $2.25, but of course, she is an exceptional woman. The tomato canning factories have started up for this season's run."

CITY AND COUNTY ARE FORMALLY JOINED IN HOLY WEDLOCK

The city and county of Salt Lake have been joined in the holy bonds of matrimony, according to a marriage certificate returned to the county clerk by P. L. Arnold, pastor of the Presbyterian church. What many residents of Zion have long been looking for is at last accomplished—the city and county are one. The license reads, in part:

"I hereby certify that on the twenty-fourth day of May, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and four, at Salt Lake City, in said county, I, the undersigned, a clergyman, did join in the holy bonds of matrimony, according to law, Salt Lake City, of the county of Salt Lake, state of Utah, and Salt Lake county, of the county of Salt Lake, state of Utah."

OLD TIMER AT CITY JAIL MAKES PLEA THAT HIS DRUNKENNESS WAS LEGAL

"Can a man be drunk in his own eyes?" "Crasy drunk," "fighting drunk"—and yet be not drunk in the eyes of the law?

If Tom King imbibed two fingers of whisky and "jaymaker" ginger in the city prison to relieve a tired feeling, is Tom to be held responsible if the mixture puts him out?

Even if the defendant himself admits that he lay "tight" for two hours, can it be held that he "unlawfully and wilfully did become drunk," providing the lag was induced by an officially administered "prescription"?

Upon these questions hangs the fate of Tom King, the old-time holder of a "steady drunk" cell at the city prison. Judge Diehl, after hearing Attorney W. F. Wanless, counsel for the aged defendant, announced yesterday that he would reserve his decision until today. He intimated that he thought well of the contention that King was not guilty of unlawfully and wilfully becoming drunk.

According to Mr. King, who is three score and valuable, he was released last Tuesday, after serving a sentence of thirty days on a charge of drunkenness. At the jailer's request, however, he was kept in the cell a few days to help out with some janitor work. Friday morning, before breakfast, Mr. King felt ill. He hereupon purchased a "steady drunk" cell, and a bunch of jaymaker ginger from the jailer. Consequently he forgot illness, jail and work in a beautiful lag in the building basement. Tom admitted he was drunk, but he had been working gratis and had, moreover, taken the stimulant for lawful purposes, he decided to fight the case. The judge he was drunk, but relies on the fact that he was not wilfully nor unlawfully drunk.

Now it is up to tipplers to see that when they get drunk they get a lag with Blackstone trimmings warranted to stand 100 per cent trial test in court.

IS SHE MADAME OR MADEMOISELLE? THIS WOMAN ANXIOUS TO DETERMINE

A woman about 25 years of age came into the county clerk's office Saturday afternoon with a marriage certificate in her hand which she requested Deputy Clerk David B. Davies to fill out, saying that when she and her husband had been married on April 13 last by one of the deputies he had neglected to write in the necessary words on the printed document. Mr. Davies took the license, and as he was alone in the office at the time, he would call on the other deputies on their return in regard to the matter.

Yesterday Mr. Davies asked Joseph L. Eldredge, Jr., and David Smith, county clerk, who, being elders in the Mormon church, are often called upon to perform wedding ceremonies, if either had married the couple. Both denied that they had officiated at the ceremony, though Mr. Smith remembered having issued the license.

The woman stated she was going to Chicago, but that her husband would remain in Salt Lake. She seemed greatly embarrassed when talking to Mr. Davies about the matter.

"This is rather an awkward situation I am in," said she, blushing furiously. "Some of my friends say my husband and I are not married, although one of the clerks performed the ceremony in a private room of the clerk's office."

Mr. Davies told her to leave the papers and call again.

The license, which had not filled out, is still in the county clerk's office, and the woman has gone away, believing that she is married and that Deputy Clerk Smith will be able to perform the ceremony, had failed to fill out the certificate.

CASTRO DECLINES TO DISCHARGE RECEIVER

Washington, Aug. 22.—President Castro has declined to discharge the receiver of the New York & Buenos Aires Asphalts company of Venezuela, pending legal proceedings. The minister called the state department today from Caracas that President Castro thought the United States government should await the conclusion of the legal proceedings before the asphalt lakes and property to remain meanwhile in the hands of Receiver Carrero. Nothing further has been said about the matter, but it is expected that the state department will take some action.

INHERITED SCROFULA

When a child I had a very severe attack of Diphtheria, which came near proving fatal. Upon recovery the glands of the neck were very much enlarged, and the free use of iodine, the right one was reduced to its normal size, but the left one continued to grow—very slowly at first, until it was about the size of a goose egg, which began to press on the windpipe, causing difficult breathing, and became very painful. An incision was made and a large quantity of pus discharged. The gland was removed, or as much as could with safety be taken out. For ten years I wore a little piece of cloth about an inch long in my neck to keep the place open. During this time I had to have it cut open by the doctor every time I took cold or the opening closed. In the Spring or early Summer of 1884 I was persuaded by my wife to use S. S. S., which I did, strictly in accordance with directions. I took twenty-six large bottles, and was entirely cured, for I have not suffered since that time.
